PARENTAL CONSENT NOTICE

This Student / Parent Consent & Data Processing Notice explains how Cerebral Compass Private Limited ("Cerebral Compass", "we", "us", "our") asks for, obtains, records, and manages the consent of a student and, where applicable, their parent or lawful guardian before processing the student's personal data in connection with our educational counselling, career guidance, and college/university admission assistance services.

This Notice is intended to operate in accordance with India's Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 ("DPDP Act") and the Digital Personal Data Protection Rules, 2025 ("DPDP Rules"), as applicable. It should be read together with our Privacy Policy and other applicable notices, which explain in greater detail how Cerebral Compass collects, uses, stores, shares, and otherwise processes personal data.

Under the DPDP Act, a child is an individual who has not completed eighteen years of age. Where a student is a child, Cerebral Compass will obtain verifiable consent from the parent or lawful guardian before processing the child's personal data, subject to applicable law and any applicable exemptions.

At a glance

- We ask for the required consent of a parent or lawful guardian before processing the personal data of a child, where such consent is required under applicable law.
- We take appropriate steps to verify that the person providing consent is an adult and is the child's parent or lawful guardian, in accordance with applicable requirements for verifiable parental consent.
- You consent to specific and clearly described uses of the student's personal data for educational counselling, career guidance, admission assistance and related services — and for no unrelated purpose.
- We will not sell a child's personal data or undertake targeted advertising directed at children, except as permitted by applicable law.
- You may withdraw consent in accordance with applicable law, and Cerebral Compass will maintain an appropriate record of the consent provided and the manner in which it was obtained.

1. Why we ask for your consent

Because your child is under 18, applicable law requires us to obtain verifiable consent from you, as their parent or lawful guardian, before processing your child's personal data, unless a specific legal exemption applies. "Verifiable" means that we take appropriate steps to establish that:

- you are an adult (18 years or above); and
- you are the parent or lawful guardian of the child whose personal data is being processed.

This requirement helps ensure that a child's personal data is processed with the knowledge and consent of a responsible parent or lawful guardian, particularly in connection with educational counselling, career guidance and admission assistance services provided by Cerebral Compass.

2. Who can give consent

Consent may be given by the child's parent or lawful guardian, who must be an identifiable adult. Where the individual is a person with a disability who has a lawful guardian, consent may be given by that lawful guardian, and Cerebral Compass will take appropriate steps to verify the guardianship through legally recognised means.

3. How we confirm it is really you (verification)

To obtain verifiable consent, Cerebral Compass uses appropriate technical and organisational measures and takes reasonable steps to confirm that the person providing consent is an identifiable adult and the child's parent or lawful guardian. Depending on the circumstances, this may include:

- Details we already hold. If you are already a registered user of Cerebral Compass and we hold reliable identity and age details relating to you, we may use those details to verify that you are an identifiable adult.
- Identity or age details you provide, or a government-authorised virtual token. You may voluntarily provide identity or age details, or authenticate through a virtual token mapped to such details and issued by an authorised entity, including through a Digital Locker service where applicable, so that we can verify that you are an adult.

Getting started. Where a child approaches Cerebral Compass for educational counselling, career guidance or admission assistance, the child may provide the necessary details of their parent or lawful guardian so that we can contact them and obtain the required consent. Where parental consent is required, Cerebral Compass will obtain and verify the consent before processing the child's personal data, subject to applicable law and any applicable exemptions.

A simple declaration that "I am over 18", or a child merely providing a parent's email address, will not by itself constitute verifiable parental consent where verification is required. Cerebral Compass will take appropriate steps to verify the identity and age of the person providing consent in accordance with applicable law.

4. What you are consenting to

With your consent, Cerebral Compass may collect and use your child's:

- personal and account details — name, age/date of birth, contact details, parent/guardian details and other information required to create or manage the student's profile;
- educational and career-related information — academic records, qualifications, examination details, subjects, educational preferences, career interests, skills, aspirations and information provided during counselling or career assessment; and
- admission and application-related information — documents and information required for college or university applications, including course preferences, application details and other supporting information required for admission assistance, including applications to institutions in India or abroad.

We use this to:

- provide and personalise educational counselling, career guidance and related services based on the student's academic background, interests, preferences and requirements;
- assist the student with college and university research, shortlisting, applications, admission-related processes and other educational services requested by the student or parent/guardian; and
- communicate with the student, parent/guardian, counsellors, educational institutions and relevant service providers where necessary to provide the requested services and maintain the security of the Platform.

The collection and processing of personal data is further described in our Privacy Policy and other applicable notices.

5. What we will not do

We will not:

- sell your child's personal data;
- serve your child targeted or behavioural advertising;
- track, monitor, or profile your child beyond what is reasonably necessary for providing the educational counselling, career guidance and admission assistance services requested by you or the student; or
- process your child's personal data in a manner that is likely to cause any detrimental effect on the child's well-being.

6. The confirmations you will see

During the consent process, we ask you to provide consent through separate, clearly worded confirmations rather than through a single bundled "I agree" statement. These confirmations are not pre-ticked, and each requires an affirmative choice:

1. I confirm that I am an adult and am the parent or lawful guardian of this child.
2. I have read and understood the Privacy Policy and applicable Student / Parent Consent & Data Processing Notice.
3. I consent to Cerebral Compass collecting and processing my child's personal data for the educational counselling, career guidance, admission assistance and related purposes described above.
4. (Optional) I consent to receiving occasional communications from Cerebral Compass regarding its services, educational opportunities, updates and other relevant information.

Confirmation (4) is entirely optional and separate from the consent required for the core services. You may provide consent for the processing necessary to provide the requested services through confirmations (1)–(3) without providing consent for optional promotional communications under confirmation (4).

7. Your control, and how to withdraw consent

You remain in control of your child's personal data. Subject to applicable law, you may:

- request access to your child's personal data;
- request correction, completion or updating of inaccurate or incomplete data;
- request erasure of your child's personal data, subject to any legal or other lawful requirement for its retention; and
- withdraw your consent to the processing of your child's personal data.

You may exercise these rights or withdraw consent by using the available controls on the Platform, where applicable, or by contacting Cerebral Compass through the contact details provided in this Notice.

When you withdraw consent:

- we will stop further processing of your child's personal data for the purposes for which consent was withdrawn, subject to any processing that is permitted or required under applicable law;
- withdrawal of consent will not affect the lawfulness of processing carried out before the withdrawal; and
- where the withdrawal of consent affects our ability to provide a particular counselling, career guidance or admission assistance service, we may no longer be able to provide that service. We will communicate the relevant consequences of withdrawal where applicable.

8. We keep a secure record of your consent

We keep a secure and traceable record of the consent provided by you — including what you consented to, when the consent was provided, and, where applicable, how it was verified — so that we can respect your choices and demonstrate that the required consent was properly obtained. Cerebral Compass will maintain such records in accordance with applicable legal and data protection requirements.

9. Language and clarity

Cerebral Compass aims to present this Notice and the consent request in clear and reasonably understandable language so that students, parents and lawful guardians can make informed decisions regarding the processing of personal data. Where required under applicable law, the information and consent request will be provided in the manner and language prescribed by such law.

10. If your child is referred through an institution

Where your child accesses or receives Cerebral Compass services through a school, college, educational institution or other authorised partner, the institution may have its own arrangements and responsibilities relating to the processing of your child's personal data. In such cases, the relevant institution's privacy notices and arrangements may also apply. You may direct questions regarding the processing of your child's personal data to the relevant institution or to Cerebral Compass using the contact details provided below.

Cerebral Compass may update or modify this Notice from time to time to reflect changes in its data processing practices, services or applicable laws and regulations. Any updated version of this Notice will be made available through the Platform or other appropriate means, and the revised Notice will apply from the date specified therein.

This Notice is intended to describe Cerebral Compass's approach to obtaining and managing student and parent/guardian consent in relation to the processing of personal data. It should be read together with our Privacy Policy and other applicable notices.
